

A BOOK MARKS OUR WORLD

To participate in this global bookmark exchange, send an email to Margriet Ruurs: margriet@margrietruurs.com

Once I have your location and the number of students participating, I will send you contact information for a school elsewhere in the world with a similar number of students.

Have your students make handmade (not digital!) bookmarks. On it they should write one sentence, in English and in any other language they may speak, about their favorite book!

When the bookmarks are completed, you send them to your contact by regular mail and you will receive back enough bookmarks for all of your students from somewhere else in the world.

Many teachers are using this project to study their bookmark buddies' country. Hope you will participate!
